

RICH MAN'S SON IN JAIL.

Marcus Inherited Share of a $3,000,000 Estate.

Harry Marcus, son of the late Martin M. Marcus, a Baltimore millionaire, was sent to Ludlow Street Jail to-day in default of $2,000 bail, on an order signed by Justice Andrews in the Supreme Court.

Marcus is being sued for a limited divorce on the ground of abandonment by his wife, Miss Anna Gould. He was charged that he is about to flee the jurisdiction of the court.

Marcus was married on Oct. 21, 1904, and it is alleged has left his wife four times, always returning repentant. Mrs. Marcus says he is dissipated and squandered his money.

Marcus's father died on July 29 last, leaving a fortune of $3,000,000 to be divided between six children.

Just before leaving his wife, the last time, he was charged with giving her a check for $25 which proved to be a forgery.

NO HYPNOTISM FOR JUDGE.

Doctor Sentenced Blanchard Before the Courtist Suggests Could Work His Spell.

John D. Blanchard, an ex-convict, who held up and robbed Henry Barcal, of 212 West Twentieth street, on the night of Dec. 1, pleaded guilty before Judge Foster in General Sessions to-day. He said he was a hypnotic instructor.

"How good are you?" asked Assistant District Attorney Blumenthal.

"Fine," replied Blanchard. "I'll hypnotize you into recommending a suspended sentence, and then hypnotize the judge into letting me go."

Blumenthal told Judge Foster of Blanchard's boast.

"I'll discuss of you before you get time to do so," the judge told Blanchard. "Twenty years in Sing Sing prison."

MAX O'RELL HERE.

He Arrives on the Oceanic, Which Also Brings Robert Barr, the Novelist.

Paul Monet, the novelist, better known as Max O'Rell, was a passenger on the White Star line steamship Oceanic, which arrived here this morning. The author comes here to lecture for some months in the South.

"I came near being mobbed in France," he said. "Because I said a few nice things about the English. The English will not let me say anything but what is the sentiment in France."

Another passenger on the Oceanic was Robert Barr, the author. He comes here to write a novel of American life. He will lecture in Washington, D. C.

SENT WORD OF SUICIDE.

Harry Howell Wrote to Evening World and Took Poison.

"I'm going to take poison on account of domestic troubles," Harry Howell had written this on a postal card and mailed it to The Evening World last night he took poison in his home at 211 West Sixty-sixth street.

The neighbors speak in the highest terms of Mrs. Howell, and say that the discord was caused by Howell himself, who was a cigarette fiend and at times seemed demented. Mrs. Howell bears out this story.

Howell is prominent in the councils of the Steam Drifters' Association. He aroused his wife a few minutes before midnight and said:

"I have taken poison. I'll be dead in ten minutes. Good by!"

He staggered from the bedroom and fell upon the kitchen floor.

He died in Roosevelt Hospital at 2:45 this morning. Mrs. Howell declared he smoked hundreds of cigarettes a day.

When she pleaded with him to give up the habit he threatened her with violence.

GRAB BILL FOR MUEL.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, Jan. 17.—A bill introduced to-day by Senator G. W. Plunkitt becomes a law the salary of Alderman Robert Muel will be increased $2,000 a year.

The excuse for this increase in the big Alderman's income is his membership in the Sinking Fund Commission. As Chairman of the Alderman's Finance Committee Mr. Muel sits with the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners.

His predecessors have always been satisfied with the honor without more salary. Muel's duties as a member of the Commission are nominal.

He receives $1,000 a year as Alderman.

DE GRAY GETS HIS DIVORCE.

Comedian Accused Pretty "Bar-foot Dancing" Wife, Naming Eddie Shayne.

Sydney Herbert Ined, known on the stage as Sydney Herbert De Gray, received a decree of absolute divorce from Mildred Howard De Gray, the barefoot dancer, in the Supreme Court to-day.

The ladies were married on Oct. 2, 1905. Ined accused his wife of improper conduct with Eddie Shayne on Nov. 14, at the Hoffman Hotel, Sixth avenue and Forty-third street. Shayne is the husband of Mae Warder, well known in vaudeville.

COMMITTED 1,000,000 WORDS TO MEMORY. WORK AND STUDY KILLED ACTRESS.

Hannah May Ingham, Leading Lady of Murray Hill Theatre, Dropped Dead from the Work of Learning a New Role Every Week.

MISS INGHAM'S DAILY WORK AS AN ACTRESS.

Breakfast at 9.30.
Rehearsal 10 to 12 or 12.30.
Luncheon.
Matinee 1.30.
Home again 5.30 to 6.
Theatre 7.
Home 11 to 11.30.
Study to 2 or 3.30.
Arise at 9.

The death of Hannah May Ingham, leading lady of the Murray Hill Theatre, has disclosed how much a nervous, high-strung, conscientious woman can stand before she falls under the burden of her work.

Her life has counterparts in every "stock company" where the "bill" as it is called, is changed every week.

The last to fall under the strain of overwork before Miss Ingham was Miss Victory Bateman, who was playing in a stock company in St. Louis.

Tremendous Mental Strain.

To keep up with her work Miss Bateman learned by heart 1,000 words. Then her mind toppled and fell, and for a long time she was in an asylum. She has since recovered and is now playing at the Metropolitan Theatre in Third avenue.

Miss Ingham in private life was Mrs. E. T. Stetson. Her husband has been a star on the stage for years. She was thirty-two years old, was born in Lima, O., and went on the stage when she was sixteen. She married Mr. Stetson that year.

Miss Ingham became the leading actress of the Henry V. Donnelly stock company at the Murray Hill Theatre last year. A new play is produced each week, and in the forty-five weeks she had been there she had played leading parts in forty-five plays.

This means that she had to commit to memory more than 1,000,000 words and cues, stage directions, situations, entrances and exits.

There was nothing but work, work, work. Never a moment of relaxation or recreation. Her daily programme led inevitably to the end.

She arose at 9 o'clock every morning and ate breakfast at her boarding-house, 40 Lexington avenue. It was a hurried breakfast, because at 10 o'clock she had to be at the theatre to rehearse for the play the week following.

Rehearsal lasted until noon and sometimes until 12.30. Home again for luncheon, without a moment's rest, and then the return for the matinee. There is a matinee every day at the Murray Hill.

Matinee through at 5 o'clock, with perhaps a running through with some strong scene for next week, and she returned home again for dinner. Back to the theatre at 7 for the evening performance, home at 11.30, and then study for three hours on the new play.

At 2 A. M. six hours sleep and the grind went on again.

It is a wonder that yesterday, after a rehearsal of the comedy "Never Again," she went to luncheon with the weary words "Oh, for a rest," dropped her head and died.

HANNAH MAY INGHAM.

Her Versatile Repertoire.

Miss Ingham's repertoire embraced everything from "Camille" to the broadest of farces. A partial list of them this year is as follows:

Two Orphans.
My Friend from India.
Social Highwayman.
The Iron-
Master.
The Silver King.
The Three Guards.
A Parisian Romance.
A Celebrated Case.
The Ties of Love.
The King.
The Governor.
The funeral service will be held at the house Friday morning at 10.30.

DULL TIME IN STOCKS.

Prices a Little Higher, but Trading Very Slow.

Fractional gains were made by the Industrials at the opening of the stock market to-day. The railroads began irregularly, but soon rallied. After the initial figures sugar climbed a point, Tobacco almost 2 and Leather a point and a half.

In the traction shares the roads, excepting Third avenue, which was off 1-2 and dull, showed good advances over last night. At the start Manhattan was lardy, but soon had a point gain to its credit.

The Grangers went half a point to the good. New York Central was flat.

The trading continued slow. Little long interest came into the market. The room traders and the shorts were in absolute control.

There was some covering at the beginning, which moved figures up slightly, but there seemed to be no desire to acquire new short lines, owing to the probability of English success in the battle now being fought in South Africa.

All the big interests seem anxious. The cables are kept warm by the desire to grab off the first news of success or failure.

The raid in Third Avenue forced out considerable longstock which broke the price 5-14. Other municipal stocks reacted sympathetically. Metropolitan Street Railway losing 2 points.

When the selling ceased the market became lifeless but hardened. There was a marked contraction in the volume of bond trading, but prices were well sustained.

Some demand for St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio and Norfolk & Western exerted a beneficial effect on the general list.

Advances did not generally exceed fractions. Metropolitan Street Railway worked slowly up to 1-16 again, and Tobacco, Sugar and Brooklyn Transit ruled at the best. No appreciable increase in business attended the rise, which was fully maintained up to 2 o'clock.

The rise in prices continued into the last hour, the Colorado Fuel stocks advancing strongly. The market then yielded slightly. Baltimore & Ohio then yielded a point. The market hardened again in the final dealings.

The closing was dull and firm, at substantial net gains, with few exceptions. Total sales of stocks today were 22,000 shares, and of bonds $1,100,000 par value.

LONDON STOCKS DULL.

Suspense Over the War Operations Keeps Market Quiet—American Stocks Steady.

The condition of stagnation continued in the London security markets to-day, owing to the suspense regarding the Transvaal developments in general, and Gen. Buller's movements particularly.

The South Africa mining shares displayed strength. American securities were as about New York party. Brief first preferred and Reading common made advances of 1-3 and 5-8 respectively.

The Cotton Market.

The closing prices of cotton to-day were: Jan. 7.38 to 7.39; Feb. 7.38 to 7.39; March 7.38 to 7.39; April 7.38 to 7.39; May 7.38 to 7.39; June 7.38 to 7.39; July 7.38 to 7.39; Aug. 7.38 to 7.39; Sept. 7.38 to 7.39; Oct. 7.38 to 7.39; Nov. 7.38 to 7.39; Dec. 7.38 to 7.39.

COUNTRESS ANNA COMING.

Count De Castellane and His Wife Due Here Next Sunday.

Count Boni and the Countess Anna de Castellane are coming over on how dear America looks after an absence of five years in the embrace of Gay Paree.

They are due Sunday on La Bretagne. It is needless to say that the Countess was formerly Miss Anna Gould. She and her little husband will make their home at a hotel during their stay in our city.

The programme of social events in honor of the visit has only been partially completed. It is expected that the de Castellanes will spend considerable of their time in this country at Georgian Court, the country place of the George Goulds, at Lakewood.

There will be a dinner and a musicale at George Gould's mansion, 57 Fifth avenue, Saturday, Feb. 10. The dinner will be for twenty-one guests, and the musicale, which will follow, will be graced by the artistic presence of Miss Emma Eames and the Kaiternborn Orchestra.

WHEAT WAS FIRMER BUT CABLES LOWER.

Wheat had a firmer undertone notwithstanding the break in Liverpool cables of 5-4 per cent. following the weakness displayed in our market yesterday.

New York's opening prices were: May wheat, 72 1-2; July, 72 1-4; May corn, 31 1-2; July, 31 1-4.

Chicago's opening prices were: May wheat, 68 1-2; July, 68 1-4; May corn, 25 1-2; July, 25 1-4.

Chicago's closing prices were: May wheat, 68 1-2; July, 68 1-4; May corn, 25 1-2; July, 25 1-4.

New York's closing prices were: May wheat, 72 1-2; July, 72 1-4; May corn, 31 1-2; July, 31 1-4.

THE PUBLIC WAS DRAWN TO THIS STORE

to Partake of Values Which They Knew Were Well Worth Coming For—and They Got Them—Thousands of Willing Witnesses Will Testify to That Fact.

We realized when we purchased the store and its contents from BIERMAN, HEIDELBERG & CO. that it was a big deal—that to get rid of this mammoth stock quickly we must do something out of the ordinary—and we did. Old Timers say that in all their experience they never saw such an outpouring of people to take advantage of a sale. The rush continued all week, but it takes more than a week to deplete such a gigantic stock.

Now, Again, We Realize We Must Do Something Much Out of the Ordinary to still further reduce this vast stock of the FINEST CLOTHING, SHOES, HATS AND FURNISHINGS.

WE HAVE PREPARED A SERIES OF BARGAINS FOR

THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

that will give the public a surprise and be a pleasant reminder for many a day.

Retire from the Retail Clothing Business—The Frank L. Taylor Clothing Co. Succeeds Them.

Bierman, Heidelberg & Co., who have been identified with the wholesale and retail clothing business for over fifty years, have retired from the retail branch.

The entire immense stock of high-class clothing, furnishings, hats and shoes of the retail store, corner Broadway and Chambers street, has been sold to the Frank L. Taylor Clothing Company, who will continue the business at this store.

The sudden determination of Messrs. Bierman, Heidelberg & Co. to retire from the retail branch has created an unusual opportunity, viz: the purchase of the immense fine stock at a fraction of its real value, and some of the developments may be looked for as the new owners are ready to dispose of it. It is their intention to dispose of this quantity, an important change in the retail clothing store in America.—The World.

BARGAINS AND POLICEMEN.

Should Officers of the Law Be Called to Preserve Order at Special Sale?

To what extent can a corporation or an individual command the services of the police force in protecting property? Have private persons the right to use public servants in keeping order in their places of business when it would seem as if a personal employee might answer the same purpose?

These questions were considerably mooted when the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company secured control of the Bridge, and the spectacle was first witnessed of seven stalwart policemen being required at the Manhattan entrance to direct people to the cars and keep them from being run over. They have now been revived by a man who writes a letter protesting against the Frank L. Taylor Clothing Company being allowed to call in policemen to keep order at the sale. The protest is signed by a man who is a member of the police force, and the company's store, at the northeast corner of Chambers street and Broadway.

The Frank L. Taylor Clothing Company is a new corporation, which bought up the immense clothing store of Bierman, Heidelberg & Co.—The News.

Open Saturday Eve. Till 9 o'clock.
